

Searching for a Tagline...

McMahon DeGulis is searching for the perfect tagline... because our designers insist. Our brand is well established except for the pithy catch phrase that captures your eyes on this page. Mere words...

Because we prefer to devote our creative energies to representing our clients, we are inviting everyone else to offer suggestions. The winner gets... well, nothing, other than our eternal gratitude.

Here are a few suggestions we've already received. Umm. We are still looking. Send yours in and we will take the good ones into consideration.
